

NIS Defend

Solid Protection

NIS provides the best perimeter security tools designed to suit your business, delivering standalone solutions or integrating into an end to end security strategy. We can advise what gives you the best value based on your starting point and your objectives.

In addition we can carry out tests from inside your business to check for “leaks” and potential weaknesses and outside your business to ensure the barriers in place are functioning correctly. We would recommend that you employ this option regularly and we can incorporate the testing into a security service package.

We would help you ensure that you have implemented the current best practice policies in such areas as data encryption, ensuring backups are checked to prove restoration of data will work and for example that your password management policy includes Multi Factor Authentication and is reviewed and managed correctly.

NIS can provide you all of the tools (hardware and software) that you require to ensure your systems are protected to ensure we maintain a secure environment for you to work and if you deploy our monitoring service you are able to rest assured that you are as protected as you can be.

In addition we are working with UK Law Enforcement to provide data on potential attacks and people testing the “walls” that have been built, you will receive a regular report detailing any possible targeting of your company. This optional service enables you and NIS to work together with UK Law Enforcement to help improve the security of the community as well as your own security.
